

ICDSC 10 Workshops – Call for Proposals

4nd ACM/IEEE International Conference on Distributed Smart Cameras (ICDSC 2010)

Proposal submission deadline:	31 March 2010
Notification of decisions:	15 April 2010
Workshop dates:	3-4 September 2010

ICDSC 2010 invites proposals for high-quality workshops on current topics related to distributed smart cameras. The workshops will be held after the main conference at the same site on 3-4 September 2010.

The goal of the workshops is to provide informal forums for researchers to discuss cutting-edge research issues and challenges. Workshops should appeal to a broad range of the ICDSC audience and be organized by leaders in their field. ICDSC will consider proposals for half-day, full day, or two-day workshops.

The workshop organizers are responsible for coordinating the content of workshop, moderating discussions, and ensuring attendance from the contributors named in the workshop proposal. As in previous years, registration to ICDSC will include registration to all workshops, and workshop proceedings will be included on the ICDSC DVD. The conference organizers will provide the seminar room and basic audiovisual facilities.

The workshop proposal should contain the following information:

1. Title of workshop
2. Names and e-mails of workshop organizers, including a primary contact
3. Justification for the workshop (Why is the topic of interest? Why is ICDSC the right venue? How will the discussion benefit the audience? How does the workshop differ from previous related workshops at ICDSC or elsewhere?)
4. Format (e.g., invited talks, papers, posters, panel discussions, or a combination)
5. Length of workshop (half-day, full day, two day)
6. Names of any confirmed speakers and/or potential invitees
7. Expected numbers of submissions (for workshops involving paper solicitation)
8. Draft call for papers for the workshop, including tentative program committee and deadlines for submission/review/acceptance/camera ready

Proposals should be emailed as pdf or plain text to the ICDSC10 Workshops Chair, Rich Radke (workshop@icdsc.org), before 31 March 2010. Decisions on workshop proposals will be announced by 15 April 2010.
